

This award was developed to recognize the hard work and dedicated efforts of CARA non Executive members who are as yet unrecognized by the membership. These individuals have stepped up to the plate' and chosen to become involved by volunteering for CARA.

Winners:

Nur is an active CARA member who contributed greatly to CARA West in 2014. Nur was nominated in appreciation not only for her work at the conference but for the warm welcome she gave to newcomers.

Nominated by: Anita Sham

Lauren is being recognized for many significant contributions to CARA, most notably, her leadership in the complex role of Coordinating Editor for the CARA Connection. As Coordination Editor, Lauren manages the receipt of articles, advertising, translations and layout work for each newsletter. Lauren also actively participates in 2 SIGs, shares information on O3 and LinkedIn, published a CARA Connection article in 2014 and identified and recruited webinar speakers for CARA which is a vital support to our professional development program.

Nominated by: Katie Porter

Jennifer is another an exceptional contributor to CARA. She has long advocated for the inclusion of conference content for those of us in clinical research administration and repeatedly presented and organized sessions on this topic at CARA National. Active in both the clinical research and institutional contracts SIGs, Jennifer readily shares resources with other SIG members and her contributions to both SIGS were fundamental to early SIG success.

Nominated by: Katie Porter

Jeanette has been actively engaged in the finance community in CARA for the past 2 years. She substantially contributed to the success of finance professional development offerings both at the regional and national conferences drawing on the broad network she has built.

Nominated by: Diane Johnston