

As the Director of Programs for the Alberta Prion Research Institute (APRI), Ron's central role in administering the Institute is to establish and develop programs to foster prion and protein misfolding research in the Province of Alberta. He has a focus on the management of funding opportunities for Alberta based researchers in prion science. Ron has experience with the Canadian Institutes of Health Research as a Coordinator of Programs for the Institute of Gender and Health, and as a Research Coordinator at the University of Alberta.
