

A lifetime member of CARA, Janet has been active in research administration and science policy since 1975. She has been associated with many of the major developments in research funding since that time and has been associated, in one way or another, with each of the federal funding agencies. She continues to be active as an advisor to universities and federal and provincial agencies and sits on various S&T Boards and Committees.